PROFILE

I am a dedicated Computer Science student with a strong passion for artificial intelligence and its transformative potential. My academic journey has been guided by a curiosity for intelligent systems, machine learning, and data-driven innovation. I am deeply motivated to pursue research in AI, aiming to contribute to advancements that reshape technology and society. With a solid foundation in programming, algorithms, and data structures, I continuously seek opportunities to expand my knowledge and apply it to real-world challenges. My goal is to become a leading researcher, shaping the future of AI with purpose, precision, and creativity.
